

Bible Reading Plan 2023

November 2023 – Jeremiah and Lamentations: Prophecy of Destruction and Restoration

The book of Jeremiah recounts Israel's unfaithfulness to God and the prophecies of destruction that were to come. The northern kingdom of Israel had been overtaken years before and Judah was finally at a breaking point. This came about because of Judah's immorality and idolatry and the inevitable consequences of their sin. The Babylonians would destroy Jerusalem and lead most of them into exile, but God had a plan to one day bring them back. Before then, however, they were to live and grow and thrive in exile and there would be hope and a future for them. Likewise, the book of Lamentations gives voice to the distress and sadness that they must have been feeling, all the while calling them to seek God's mercy as they return to Him in full surrender. Jeremiah, the author of these books, was known as "the weeping prophet," because of the message that he must deliver but also because of the picture of repentance of which we must all come to at some point.
